About the Book

Love And Latkes Friendships And Festivals is a heartwarming and inspiring book that celebrates the power of friendship and community. It is a collection of stories, essays, and recipes that explore the Jewish experience through the lens of food and friendship.

The book is divided into five sections, each of which focuses on a different Jewish holiday. The first section, "Rosh Hashanah," explores the themes of new beginnings and hope. The second section, "Sukkot," celebrates the harvest and the importance of community. The third section, "Hanukkah," is a time of joy and light. The fourth section, "Purim," is a time of laughter and celebration. And the fifth section, "Passover," is a time of freedom and remembrance.

Throughout the book, the author, Leah Koenig, weaves together personal stories, Jewish traditions, and delicious recipes. She writes about the importance of gathering with friends and family to share food and stories. She also writes about the ways that food can connect us to our culture and our heritage.
